Thursday Dec 6th

Very nice Winter day, sun shone clear and bright. In the after noon cousin Linna & I took a walk out in town, went to the Miami University, we walked all around and looked at the buildings they are massive, they are three stories high and the grounds are beautiful, so nicely arranged, it must be lovely in the Spring time, we passed some of the churches and stores, and fine residences. I think Oxford is a real pretty place, it has a country like air about it, the streets are so wide, and then there are so many large yards, and so many trees also. The side walks, some of them looked very ancient, it is noted for its grand colleges, we called on Mrs Elwell had pleasant chat, also called on Frankie Smith King, had pleasant call, we then went back to cousins, and Ira son came for me, I was glad to see him, and glad to get back home, did not reach home until after dark, Eleanor Phenis staid with Rachel,

Ira & I went to Whitcomb, done some trading called to see Aunt Anna & Matts folks, Mrs Thurston died this morning at 9 oclock. We are having delightful weather now, the roads are splendid, we have had so many white frosts, I thought I never seen a more beautiful morning than this, at this time of year, the ground was covered with frost, the sun shone out so brightly, and every thing, and glistened in the rays, it made me think of a little child laughing through tears, I could scarcely keep from crying. It seemed like the sun was Gods smiling face shining down through tears on the sorrows and sins of his people in this life. We have much to suffer and bear in this life, but we can have much pleasure to, and God is ever ready to smile upon us if we will but trust him, fully and freely, and try to live good useful lives.

Sat 22d

Ira went to Brookville to attend funeral of William Stalcup, he was buried by the order of Oddfellows, I went with him to Whitcomb and visited Aunt Anna, had a very pleasant time, she was very feeble, I was so glad I went for it seemed to do her so much good, Mrs Craig from Mt Carmel was there a while, one of Aunts old neighbors, I took Aunt a ripe tomato which pleased her well, said she would save it for Christmas dinner. I called at Matts a while, a young Mr Ross, a noted singer was there, they sang several pieces for me, which I greatly enjoyed, he had been singing at the protracted meeting at Colters Corner.
